Glades Fire Control Dist. Battles Sawgrass Fire

Fire in Broward county Everglades sawgrass lands spread into Palm Beach County this week.

The flames are spread over an area seven or eight miles long and three to four miles wide west of the Miami Canal at the junction of Palm Beach and Broward Counties.

Gay J. Bender, chief of the Everglades Fire Control District, expressed hope the blaze would be confined west of the canal, which runs northwesterly from Miami toward Lake Okechobee.

Most of the area is in Broward County, and other sections of the Upper Glades are in "chop shops." Bender said.

He reported that small fires in northern Okechobee and western St. Lucie counties have been extinguished.

West winds carried smoke from the fires over Ft. Pierce early this week but a wind shift to the south cleared up the condition.

The joint agreement followed a conference held here recently after the County Commission received a request to help out in improving the field. Rardin and County Engineer J. M. Boyd represented the county at the conference.

In spite of the nagging pain, this one endured listening to the tales of his companions. They said that his friend of the night before had endeavored to amputate his leg with a saw. As the intrepid one cogitated about what had happened, the pain burned fiercely and he knew that the saw must have been a dull rough one.

Back in the city again he directed his course toward the M.D.'s office to see if there was any possibility of saving the limb. The doctor tenderly and painstakingly unwound the soaked leg and said a genuine helping of catnip and an unscarfed skin.

Now Mary Cameron, New York Post, says of her, "Among those Negroes who have left an imprint on our letters, I think, are more significant than Zora Neale Hurston."

Emphasizing the tremendous force which members of the white race have had in helping her all along the way, Zora says that when a crisis arose in her life, some white friend was always instrumental in helping her through. She says that relations between the Negro people of Eatonville and the neighboring white community of Maitland were always the most ideal.

Utilizing her penetrating insight, she strives to get to the root of the problems of her race and states that something basic is necessary for the uplift of her people. Teachings must reach within," she states.

Noted Anthropologist also Zora summarizes her work saying, "I'm talking the language of the South as I hear it. This language is a composite of white and colored culture."

NEW OPS REGULATIONS TO RELEASE MERCHANTS

New provisions concerning filling of price chart exemptions and a simplification of pricing problems for many small stores and modification of the general "price freeze" to provide relief for wholesale and retail merchants caught in "squeeze situations" are among the major developments announced this week by Sam F. Davis, district director, Office of Price Stabilization, Miami. These provisions pertain to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 and 8 amendment.

Davis said the first of the new provisions provides a filing exemption for stores selling housewares, notions, sporting goods, silver ware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks, if the stores' overall net dollar volume of sales of everything in the store is less than $100,000.

The second provision concerns retailers selling the same items as listed above. However, in this case the exemption is made possible if the net dollar volume from the sale of these mentioned items is less than $50,000, annually, regardless of his sales involving other items.

making the net dollar volume $100,000.

Merchants covered by these two provisions may elect to remain under the General Ceiling Price Regulation which does not require filling of pricing charts.

It was also pointed out unless a retailer's net annual volume is under $20,000, he must file a price chart if he is active in the sale of the following items: apparel and apparel accessories, shoes, beds and bedding, furniture, hardware, goods, floor coverings, lamps, radios, television sets, musical instruments and luggage.

If any eligible retailer has already filed a chart, and now wants to price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, he has until July 2 to request the return of his chart from the district Office of Price Stabilization.

Supplemental Regulation 29 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation provides for "freeze" prices January 26 at December 1949-50 levels, now authorizes wholesale and retail merchants to adjust their prices in these instances where prices to them have risen above their base price items costs, Sam F. In their message the Directors called for individual spiritual courage in meeting critical global problems. They said Christian righteousness has never been defeated, and forecast "great spiritual progress" ahead.

New President of The Mother Church for the coming year, it was announced, is Mrs. Lora C. Rathvon of Boston. In a ringing address Mrs. Rathvon said that never was the need more urgent to look beyond the material sense of life, to "see man as God's spiritual idea." Foreseeing greater spiritual achievement, she said "We are standing on the brink of a new era."

This theme was emphasized also by Walter S. Cross of Fitchburg, Mass., retiring President, who said the world is undergoing "the most profound and stirring revolution of all time." "Materialism is being overturned. A profound ferment is at work," he said. He spoke of an open-minded, inquiring attitude in human thought toward religion "which presages a new era in Christianity."

Key officials delivered progress reports on world-wide activities of the Christian Science Church. The crowds attending the meeting overflowed the main edifice of the Mother Church, which seats nearly 5000, to a smaller auditorium and also a nearby theater building.

Healings of cancer, lameness, deafness, and blindness, through spiritual means, were reported by the Christian Science Board of Lectureship in a report read by Adair Hickman of New York City. Mr. Hickman also reported the return of Christian Science lectures to the Orient after a war-enforced lapse of 11 years.

George Channing, Manager of The Christian Science Committee on Publication, reported new progress in gaining legal recognition of the concept that the right of religious freedom includes the right to seek physical healing, in good faith, by spiritual means.

Noting the growing public interest in religion, Horace J. Carver, Publisher's Agent, disclosed that sale of the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, today are double what they were ten years ago.

John H. Hoagland, Manager of The Christian Publishing Society, reported that all-time peaks had been touched during the year in advertising lineage and circulation of The Christian Science Monitor.

FUTURE FARMERS TO ATTEND FORESTRY CAMP

Florida's Seventeenth Annual Forestry Training Camp, the oldest of its kind in the country, will be held June 24 to July 7 at Camp Oleno State Park.

Over 200 members of the Future Farmers of America chapters are expected for a week each, according to Camp Director W. S. Chambers of the Florida Forest Service which operates the camp in cooperation with the State Department of Vocational Agricultural Education.

Each FFA chapter may send two boys to the camp for a week each, these representatives being chosen on the basis of their forestry projects on home farms or in school work. Instruction is given the farm boys in practical forestry principles which can be applied by them to their farm woodlots or other forest land. Athletics and evening entertainment programs round out each day's activities.

Expenses of the camp are borne by Florida pulp mills, lumber companies and turpentine operators. Major contributors this year as in the past, are the member mills of the Southern Palmetto Conservation Association. They are Container Corporation of America, Fernandina; International Paper Company, Panama City; National Container Corporation, Jacksonville; Rayonier, Inc., Fernandina; St. Joe Paper Co., Port St. Joe; and St. Regis Paper Co., Pensacola.

Others who are also making contributions to the 1951 camp include Hudson Pulp and Paper Co., Palatka; the American Turpentine Farmer's Association, for the Florida turpentine operators; Brooks-Scanlon, Inc., Foley; Alger-Sullivan Lumber Company, Century; Neal Lumber & Manufacturing Company, Blountstown; and Granger Lumber Company, Lake City.

These folks are enjoying something that's being pioneered by Buick. It's freedom from the blinding glare of bright summer sunlight. It's freedom from hot laps—caused by the sun's rays beating down through the broad expanse of windshield.

These freedoms trace to a new feature you may have noticed in '51 Buicks—a new kind of glass with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, in every glass area of the car, front, side and back.

Buick engineers tell us that this "Buick first" reduces glare 18% over conventional glass—cuts sun heat as much as 45%—and Buick engineers are very conservative fellows.

This glare-and-heat-reducing Easy-eye glass is factory-installed at moderate extra charge. It gives you a built-in transparent "sun visor" right in the windshield—and it also dulls the dazzle of oncoming headlights at night.

As we've said, this is something Buick owners were the first to enjoy. It takes its place with such exclusives as the valve-in-head Fireball Engine—coil springs on all four wheels—the firm power linkage of torque-tube drive—and the magic of Dynaflow.

As we've also said—rather modestly—"Smart buy's Buick."

Come in soon and find out what an understatement that really is.

Equipment, accessories, price and models are subject to change without notice. Buick and Buickmark, registered at Buick and Buickmark, are Buick trademarks.

"The bonds Mack and I bought for our country's defense bought and remodeled a house for us."

BARBARA AND MACK CARTER OF OLD HICKORY, TENN. CAN TELL YOU—IT'S PRACTICAL AS WELL AS PATRIOTIC TO BUY BONDS FOR DEFENSE

"Our house and lot are valued at $15,000," says "Bobby" Carter, trained nurse. "And approximately one-third of this amount Mack and I accumulated in bonds we've bought through Payroll Savings. We call it 'the house that bonds built.' Regular saving is really the only way to save!"

"Mack puts about 15% of his $5,000 a year into bonds," Mrs. Carter says. "We earn about $3,000 out of which we save $500. With bonds we bought our house, had it moved to our river lot and remodeled it."

The Carters' story can be your story, too. Start saving now. You, too, may reach your goal, as the Carters did, and easily. Start now! It takes only three simple steps:

1. Make one big decision—no to paying first, before you even draw your pay.
2. Save a regular amount systematically, week after week or month after month.
3. Sign up today in the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or in the Bank & Month Plan where you bank.

You'll be providing security for yourself, your family and one fine way of life. You'll make your dreams come true!

A New Flavor Trick

A new instant chicken bouillon cube with a real chicken flavor recently made its bow in grocery shelves. The introduction of this magic cube is welcome news for it makes rich, real chicken bouillon in a flash! Just place the cube in a cup, add piping hot water and stir. Pronto! You have done it for any occasion.

And if you have vegetable haters in your family, you can change all that by serving vegetables as flavorful that they cannot be real! For most vegetables, add just enough water to the soup to fill it to the depth of about 1 inch. Now add the chicken bouillon cube and bring the water to a boil, stirring once or twice to dissolve the cube. Add the vegetable, cover and cook until tender. This applies to quick-frozen vegetables as well as fresh—just follow package directions for the amount of water, add the cube and go ahead. The carrots in our menu are cooked this way and seasoned, after cooking, with butter, salt and pepper. And you will like our time-shortened recipe for Green Beans Country Style.

STATE IN POSITION TO SET UP UNIT IN KOREA

The Florida State Board of Health, which has almost succeeded in its goal of establishing a local health department in each of the state's 67 counties, is in a position today to set up a "health unit" in Korea.

The state health agency already has a doctor and a bacteriologist on duty over there—but it might be added they are on loan to the Armed Forces epidemiological board for research into one of the war's disabling diseases—dysentery.

They are Dr. Albert V. Hardy, director of the State Board of Health Bureau of Laboratories, and Dwight Frazier, laboratory bacteriologist, both of Jacksonville. A third laboratory staff man, Don Mackel, has alerted and may be called to join the Korea research project.

Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, State Health Officer, said today that the Department of Defense is reimbursing the Florida State Board of Health for salaries paid personnel in Korea.

"They are acquiring valuable experience which will help with disease control problems in Florida—at no cost to the Florida taxpayer," says Dr. Sowder.

The presence of Dr. Hardy and Mr. Frazier in Korea has its beginnings some time ago when the Department of Defense asked the State Board of Health laboratory to undertake a special study into the cause of dysentery. The laboratory also is working on another project for the same agency, a study of dysentery, an organism responsible for a substantial percentage of so-called food-poisoning cases.

It was agreed to send Dr. Hardy and Mr. Frazier to Korea because their work there could be considered a part of their research activity in the field of dysentery.

VETERANS' INFORMATION AND SERVICE

Reparation of servicemen who died in Korea is now underway. Eventually all Korea dead will come home to the States.

The Office of the Quartermaster General of the Army, Memorial Division, Washington 25, D. C., has this responsibility for all branches of the Armed Forces. However, it is the responsibility of each of inflation in a realistic manner.

branch of service to notify the next-of-kin that the remains are enroute to the United States. This message is sent to the next-of-kin asking for information concerning the place of interment and the name of the funeral director to whom the remains will be consigned.

The next-of-kin and the consignment will then receive a telegram from the port Quartermaster at San Francisco port of embarkation advising them that the remains will be delivered to the consignee, giving escort's name, train, and time of arrival at destination.

The Department of the Army is responsible for preparing the body for burial, furnishing the casket, and providing an escort from the appropriate branch of service to accompany the remains to the place of final burial. If the family chooses to have the loved one interred in a national cemetery, the superintendent of the cemetery is notified and he helps to coordinate the date of shipment, arrival of remains, and date and hour of burial.

Should the family choose to have the burial in a private cemetery, there is in each state a designated official of a veterans' organization who has been informed of the impending funeral and he assists in arranging for military services offered by veterans' organizations, if the family so desires. (The Armed Forces always buries its deceased military personnel in national cemeteries unless next-of-kin specify otherwise.)

Further, if burial is to be in a private cemetery, the Army will defray a portion of the funeral and interment expenses up to $75. As there are no normal costs incurred in the burial of a deceased serviceman in a national cemetery, no payment of expenses to the family by the Army is authorized. Any expenses involved, such as for flowers, are borne by the family or friends of the deceased. In certain instances also, the family may prefer a casket other than that furnished by the Army and in such cases the family bears the expense.

There is no way of determining which remains are being returned to the United States until a passenger list of the deceased has been received from the Overseas Port of Embarkation. The family is notified soon after the ship's departure and in sufficient time to make the necessary funeral arrangements.

Cattlemen's Assoc. Voices Objection to Price Controls

Members of the Florida State Cattlemen's Association in a strongly worded resolution called upon Congress to deny the extension of price controls and to "deal with the matter of inflation in a realistic manner."

by seeking to balance the national budget, thus correcting the problem at its roots.

Raymond Radebaugh of Orlando, President of the Association, reviewed his experience in Washington testifying before congressional committees on hearings on the meat situation, and H. Newell of Chicago presented the matter from the packer's viewpoint.

Radebaugh urged cattlemen to stand in flooding the desks of senators and congressmen with letters and telegrams describing the effects of price controls on the meat and livestock industry. "We are asking that Congress refuse to extend Title Four beyond the June 30 expiration date," Radebaugh said.

"Title Four grants power to OPS to place controls on meat and other products and to arbitrarily order rollbacks to a point below production costs."

"Present rollbacks take 700 million dollars away from livestock producers and instead of giving lower meat prices it has raised the prices that consumers must pay."

Newell, a representative of Swift & Company, explained that rollbacks had dealt the industry a succession of blows. "The record of price controls for 4600 years demonstrates they are unworkable when the laws of supply and demand are ignored," he continued. "We feel that in this resolution we have taken a constructive point of view in asking that Congress deal with the problem in a fundamental way by balancing the budget."

In the resolution, the association pointed out that while Title Four as it is administered in relation to the livestock industry may result in a temporary glut and thus lower prices, the ultimate effect would be the liquidation of cattle herds and corresponding shortages which would create a need for rationing.

Its strongest language was contained in a paragraph which charged that the meat industry was being "singled out as a whipping boy" in order to "appease the special pressure groups to whose influence the administration has been subjected."

"It is the sense of this meeting that continuation of meat controls will surely and certainly result in the destruction of our herds and the destruction of our industry," the resolution stated.

Health TOPICS

Varicose veins are in all ages, sexes and races, but most frequently in middle life. Varicose veins are disease which walls lose their firmness and bulge out in irregular clumps that may be seen through the skin.

The condition is likely to occur in any portion of the body, but the common site is the legs. Here the superficial veins, lying between skin and muscles, are most often affected. Deeper veins, supported by muscles, are seldom seriously affected.

The cause or causes of varicose veins are not definitely known, although it has been established that heredity is a factor. The condition is frequently associated with pregnancy and with occupations requiring persons to stand for long periods. Any condition that places undue pressure on the vessels of the legs, such as tight garters, may contribute to formation of varicose veins.

In the treatment of varicose veins, the first essential step is a complete physical examination by a competent physician. This will establish or eliminate factors causing mechanical obstruction, such as pelvic tumor, chronic cough, even tight garters or girdles. If the pelvic is inflamed, it must be cleared up.

Methods used in caring for varicose veins include bandaging, the wearing of elastic stockings, injections or surgery. The use of any of these procedures, however, is dependent on the severity of the condition in the individual case and the tests that rests with the physician.

Fla. Now Claims Larger Share of Nation's Wealth

Florida's share of the wealth of the nation has increased appreciably since 1940, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.

Florida's part of a national total is a realistic measure of the state's relative importance. Further, the growth of the Florida portion is a measure of the growing economic significance of the State.

Examples of Florida's increasing force in the economy of the nation are listed in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. The total income of Floridians grew from 1.19 per cent of national income in 1940 to 1.49 per cent last year; per capita income rose from 82 per cent to 83 per cent; per capita savings from 51 per cent to 68 per cent; farm income from 1.27 to 1.36 per cent; income from livestock and livestock products from .49 to 1.21; total bank resources from .76 to 1.19; retail sales from 1.46 to 2.13; life insurance in force from 91 to 1.37 and postal receipts from 1.22 to 1.43. Other items expressed in volumes instead of values are electric production from 3 to 1.45; number of business concerns from 1.49 to 1.94; passenger car registrations from 1.51 to 1.99 and population from 1.44 to 1.83. Virtually all of these comparisons are for the period 1940 to 1950 while for several items the 1949 figures have been used.

Although the Florida share of most national measures varies little from one per cent, even one-tenth of one per cent, expressed in dollars, means added millions to the State.

MOTORISTS CAUTIONED ON "THE HEAVY FOOT"

Motorists today were cautioned by Florida Highway Patrol Director H. N. Kirkman against what he termed "the heavy foot."

He explained that the heavy foot on automobile gas pedals was responsible for most of the serious accidents in Florida. He pointed out that more than fifty percent of those killed in fatal accidents during May was the result of fast driving.

Kirkman stated that the tendency of motorists to judge their own driving skill solely in terms of speed plays an important part in highway safety. It is for this reason, he continued, that neither traffic engineering or enforcement can begin to solve the problem of excessive speed until the driving public learns to determine the meaning of the terms of "safe speed" and "unsafe speed."

"An unsafe speed," the Patrol Chief continued, "can be a speed from twenty miles an hour on up. It is this inability to recognize thirty or thirty-five miles an hour as an unsafe speed under certain conditions that leads to so much disaster. Because the speed signs show that the limit of twenty-five miles an hour is permissible on a particular stretch of road does not mean that driving at that speed is mandatory. On the contrary, the sign specifically limits the speed to 25 miles an hour, and traveling slower than that is far more safe than the state limit."

In 1929 a factory worker could buy 1.3 dozen oranges for an hour's labor. Today he can buy 3.2 dozen with the wages earned during the same time, according to the Florida Farm Bureau.

Lime is to an acid soil as lime is to a hard soil, according to John Ford, Executive Vice-President, Florida Farm Bureau. The lime prepares the soil for the best use of fertilizers just as lime prepares the face for a smooth shave, he says.

Telephone Wage Costs UP...

3 BIG REASONS WHY INCREASED TELEPHONE RATES ARE NECESSARY

SINCE Southern Bell's rates in Florida were set, telephone costs have gone up drastically.

WAGE COSTS have increased and are going up still further due to the general wage increase resulting from recent contract negotiations.

FEDERAL corporate tax rates have risen sharply, too, adding greatly to our costs of rendering service.

TELEPHONE facilities are way up in cost, including replacement equipment to keep the service good as well as equipment to expand it.

EVEN BEFORE the most recent telephone cost increases,

Adequate Rates Are Essential to Adequate Service

Florida people need and want good, dependable and growing telephone service. We are eager to continue providing that kind of service. Rates being proposed are only those needed—no more than needed—to do the job under today's increased costs.

"Fear ye not..."

a message of faith to men of good will

NOW, in the glorious time of Easter, and the triumphant celebration of the Passover, we are once again reminded of the basic things for which we are working... The right to a faith which gives to life rich meaning and value. The freedom to work for personal goals rather than in the service of a slave state. A free-fair childhood for our children and for all the small, loving, trusting members of generations to come.

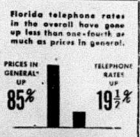

Today there are men in the world who would destroy these things. Our enemies have dared themselves freedom of any kind; even freedom of thought has ceased to exist in the nation of automata which now seeks to enslave the world.

But free men of faith have one weapon which cannot be touched by any enemy, regardless of his martial strength—faith in God and in His power. So, strengthened in our faith and in our determination that good shall triumph, let us work, each in his own best way, to safeguard the brotherhood of men and to assure that there will, indeed, come a time of peace on earth to men of good will.

Then let us turn our everyday activities toward serving this purpose. Let us work for freedom by making wise use of our personal prosperity to assure a secure future for our loved ones and for our country... One of the best ways to do this is by the regular purchase of United States Defense Bonds.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

It seems that some guys never learn, for I see by the papers that Senator David LeBlanc of Louisiana, America's No. 1 public benefactor who gave us Hadacol and even surpassed Lydia Pinkham in service to the human race, is growing weary of making an honest living and years to get back into politics.

According to a recent Associated Press dispatch, the Senator is toying with the idea of selling his Hadacol business to a big drug house for twenty million dollars and running for Governor of Louisiana.

While I'm not familiar with Louisiana politics, I should imagine that a guy ought to be able to make a pretty good gubernatorial race with a campaign fund of twenty million dollars provided the value of the dollar doesn't drop too much between now and the time of election.

Just why anybody with twenty million dollars would want to actually run for Governor is hard to understand. With that kind of dough a guy ought to be able to sit on the side lines and elect a dozen governors while he had all the fun and none of the grief.

Two folks who have been tramping all over each other to buy a family sized bottle of Hadacol at $3.19 each, ever realized that they were making a campaign contribution to a gubernatorial campaign, and if the Senator does get elected he will have more constituents scattered over more territory than any candidate in history.

Nobody knows the value of advertising better than Senator LeBlanc and if he uses printer's ink in his campaign for Governor the way he has been using it in the promotion of Hadacol, the newspapers of Louisiana are in for a grand and glorious mess of prosperity.

If I was John H. Perry, I'd jump into Louisiana and buy every paper I could get my hands on and maybe a flock of radio stations for good measure. No matter what you paid for the papers the political advertising in the campaign ought to make it a profitable investment.

Now the Senator has the love, gratitude and affection of millions of folks who, prior to the discovery of Hadacol, suffered with everything from hangnails to pernicious anemia, but after taking 6, 8, or a dozen bottles are now so chipper that they hands or chin themselves with love and affection.

According to all reports, every incoming mail brings the Senator a letter of thanks and gratitude from hither and yon and he is mentioned in the prayers of former sufferers. One would imagine if he were to toss all this adulation into the ash can and quit cold, even for the tidy sum of twenty million bucks, he would surely miss these letters and lose that warm feeling deep inside that he has gained with the knowledge that you are a pillar in the service of your fellow man. Better think it over, Senator.

While the Senator, if successful in his campaign, finds himself elected Governor and will probably still be the recipient of plenty of mail, I doubt if it will be as interesting or pleasant to peruse as that he now receives.

He will still hear from sufferers, but they will be burdened with ailments that no amount of Hadacol will relieve. They will probably read some thing like:

Dear Governor:

You probably don't remember me, but I met you when you were in our party during the campaign. I'm the guy who worked for you 18 hours a day passing out circulars and I personally delivered 183 votes.

But, Governor, I was your friend long before you decided to run for Governor. I started taking Hadacol way back in the early days, and my whole family all took it and are still taking it.

Thanks to you I'm so full of pep, vim and vigor that I just can't sit around doing nothing like I used to. I gotta have a job, I can't read or write, but I can ride a motorcycle and would like a job as a state patrolman or tag inspector or something. Thanks, Governor and God bless you.

Your Friend—Pierre.

Well, it is the Senator's life. He probably knows what he wants, but if it was me, I'd rather stay home and play Hadacol than be Governor or even President.

THE EVERGLADES RAT SNAKE

One of the most brightly colored snakes in America is the Everglades rat snake, found only in South Florida. It is bright orange in color, with pinkish eyes and a red tongue. It reaches a length of more than seven feet. The Everglades rat snake feeds mostly on rats and mice, which it kills by constriction. It is completely harmless to man.

Methodist Church, Orlando, on Sunday afternoon, May 20. The feature of the occasion was a panel discussion in which six Junior and Senior High School students participated. They were coached by Miss Irene Lighthouse, Instructor in Public Speech in the Orlando High School. The names of those participating in the panel were: Buford Jones, Jennie Payne, Carrie Simmons, Carolyn Green, Alice Smith and Alvin Smith.

A delegation of Polk County citizens, representing the Good Citizenship League of that county, appeared before the House Committee on Temperance recently, in behalf of four measures whose passage would have greatly strengthened the moral forces of the state. One of these bills would have made the 25th day July apply to beer saloons in the rural areas, and another measure would have made the state Sunday closing law apply to beer saloons. The Committee reported unfavorably on all of the measures.

The state convention of UNITED FLORIDA DRYS, which met in Orlando on May 22 was largely attended by delegates from every part of the state. Hon. Clayton M. Wallace, Field Director of the National Temperance League, and Congressman Joseph R. Bryson of South Carolina, brought challenging messages, and our state speakers who brought stirring addresses were Mrs. Richard J. Broyles, of Lakeland, Dr. Millard J. Berquist, pastor of First Methodist Church, St. Petersburg, and Dr. Thomas Hansen, of the First Baptist Church, Ft. Lauderdale.

Our officers for the coming year, elected by the Orlando Convention, are: Dr. Millard J. Berquist, of Tampa, President; Rev. Harold J. Sanders, of Tallahassee, and Dr. John Branscom, of Orlando, Vice-Presidents; Rev. H. Maurice Petton, of Orlando, Secretary, and Rev. L. G. Gebb, Treasurer. Dr. Sidney H. Davies, of Miami, Fred T. Barnett, of Lakeland, Rev. Earl Edgington, of St. Petersburg, and Mr. W. C. Meloon, of Pinecastle, were selected to present the state organization on the Board of Directors of the National Temperance League, with which the state convention voted unanimously to be affiliated with.

The Florida orange blossom welcome mat will blanket the state from the Georgia line," Adams said. "Some citrus belt posts will serve free Florida orange juice. Others are arranging open houses for visiting Legionnaires and their families."

Realizing that more vets will fly private planes to Miami than in past years special accommodations are being set up at private and municipal airports.

So that complete data will be available in advance for visiting Legionnaires, Adams has requested all Florida posts to inform him of their special plans for services and entertainment before and after the national meeting.

"We want every American Legion member to realize that every Florida post is out to make every minute of their visit to Florida trips outstanding," Adams explained. "Florida has a wide variety of interests for first-time and repeat visitors. That goes for women as well as the men."

"Convention goers should see all of Florida before or after the official sessions in Miami at this ideal and economical vacation season," he said.

SEN. BRACKEN ASKS HERALD INVESTIGATION

In the closing hours of the legislative session a Florida Senate Committee defeated a resolution to have the legislature investigate the Miami Herald on the grounds that it was trying to gain political control of Florida.

The resolution offered by Senator Newman C. Bracken, of Crestview, charged that the Herald was "aiding the Communist conspiracy to sabotage our democratic system."

The vote came after a running argument between Bracken and Senator John Branch of Tampa.

Defending the newspaper and freedom of the press, Senator Branch asked, "How in the world a committee could dig up facts to determine if articles are true and accurate—would you have the senate attempt to undertake to tell the Herald how to make a policy on fair and impartial reporting of the news?"

Senators Beall and Branch told Bracken that if he had been libeled by the Herald he could sue and go to court for damages. Senator Morrow of West Palm Beach said, "I am astounded at the charges of Communism. You close the door to

The Legislature of New Mexico has submitted a constitutional amendment to be voted upon which if adopted will permit the sale of liquor to and by the Indians. The same bill was defeated last month in the Florida Legislature, and it is hoped that the Poulson Bill now pending in Congress will suffer a like fate.

Upon his election as Governor of Oklahoma, Johnston Murray released a statement to the press in which he said that "There will be no drinking among state employees during my administration." Oklahoma law makers have just passed a "bonedry" law, which will make more effective the efforts of that Prohibition State to keep illegal liquor from crossing the state line from wet areas.

Hon. Theodore R. McKeldin, Governor of Maryland, said to the Christian Men's Committee banquet, "The only way to handle liquor is total abstinence." He does not serve intoxicating drinks in the Executive Mansion at Annapolis.

Judge William M. Gemmill, of the Chicago Municipal Court, spoke from the Bench recently as follows: "The liquor traffic divides more homes, fills more jails, and empties more churches than all other influences combined."

George J. Schoeneman, Internal Revenue Commissioner, says that 19,209 illicit stills were destroyed last year, with 8,008 destroyed in 1949. Thus bootlegging continues to flourish under repeal. Legalizing liquor does not stop illegal sales.

Your Executive Secretary addressed the Jacksonville Safety Council at a dinner meeting at the Mayflower Hotel on May 25, his theme being "The Facts of Life and Public Safety on the Highway." He is available for week-day and Sunday engagements, and his services will be given without financial obligation to those who may organize in churches, clubs and other organizations.
